McMullen Museum Cube Ornament

Supplies: Paper, color printer, scissors, string, and a needle or pin

Happy Holidays
from the McMullen

1. Cut out the entire template as one piece.
2. With a needle or pin, poke a hole through the red dot on the McMullen logo. Try not to make it too big, as a knot will keep the ornament string from slipping out.
3. Cut a 10-inch piece of string or thread. Fold it in half and tie a triple knot at one end so that you create a loop on the other. Trim the excess from the two strands under the knot.
4. Thread the string through the back of the pinhole on the logo so that your loop comes out the top of the image.
5. Fold the cut-out template along all the dotted lines and the edges of each photograph. Be sure to fold the white faces toward one another so that the photos make up the exterior of the cube.
6. Once all the edges are folded, gently fold your cube together. It should fit snuggly and hold without any tape or glue.
